

Baseball's All-Time Great Hispanic Pitchers

The history of baseball is filled with great players from all over the world. However, some of the most successful and influential players in the game's history have come from Latin America. Hispanic pitchers have played a major role in the development of the game, and many of the greatest pitchers of all time have been Hispanic.

Early Hispanic Pitchers

The first Hispanic pitcher to play in the major leagues was Esteban Bellán, who made his debut with the Cincinnati Red Stockings in 1871. Bellán was a successful pitcher, winning 104 games over the course of his career. He was followed by a number of other Hispanic pitchers, including Tony Mullane, Jose Mendez, and Juan Marichal.
