The Shire Potteries: A British Legacy of Excellence

In the heart of Staffordshire, England, the Shire Potteries was established in 1904. Renowned for their exceptional quality and artistic flair, they became one of the leading manufacturers of Art Deco ceramics.

Led by visionary designers such as Fred Taylor and Gordon Forsyth, Shire created a distinctive aesthetic that blends traditional pottery techniques with the innovative spirit of the Art Deco era.

The Art Deco Shire Collections: Defining Features

The Art Deco Shire Collections are characterized by a range of distinctive features:

- Geometric Patterns: Bold, geometric shapes and patterns dominate these collections, reflecting the Art Deco obsession with symmetry and precision.
- Strong Colors: Vibrant hues, such as emerald green, cobalt blue, and ruby red, add a touch of glamour and sophistication to the designs.
- Relief Decoration: Intricate relief work creates textural depth and visual interest, adding a touch of drama to the pieces.
- Influences from Nature: Stylized forms inspired by nature, such as stylized leaves and floral motifs, add a touch of organic beauty.

Variations within the Collections

The Art Deco Shire Collections boast a wide range of variations, catering to different tastes and preferences:

- Geometric Series: Characterized by bold geometric patterns and vibrant colors, this series embodies the essence of Art Deco.
- Floral Series: Combining geometric elements with stylized floral motifs, the Floral Series offers a more organic and graceful aesthetic.

- Figurative Series: Inspired by the Art Deco fascination with exotic cultures, the Figurative Series features elegant depictions of stylized human forms.
- Art Nouveau Series: Exhibiting a blend of Art Deco and Art Nouveau influences, this series combines organic forms with geometric accents.
