Whether you're a beginner or an experienced artist, this tutorial will provide you with the skills and knowledge you need to create lifelike animal paintings that capture the beauty and spirit of the natural world.

Materials You'll Need

- Watercolour brush pens
- Watercolour paper

- Water container
- Palette
- Brushes (optional)
- Pencil or charcoal for sketching
- Reference photos or live animal subjects (optional)

Basic Techniques

Sketching

Begin by lightly sketching the outline of your animal subject. Use a pencil or charcoal and avoid pressing too hard, as you don't want to indent the paper.

Laying Down Colours

Once your sketch is complete, start laying down colours using your watercolour brush pens. Use light, even strokes and allow the colours to blend and mix on the paper.

Creating Depth

To add depth and dimension to your painting, use darker shades of watercolour to create shadows and darker areas.

Wet-on-Wet Technique

The wet-on-wet technique involves applying paint to wet paper, which allows the colours to flow and blend seamlessly.

Dry-on-Dry Technique

The dry-on-dry technique involves applying paint to dry paper, which creates a more controlled and precise look.

Glazing

Glazing involves applying thin layers of watercolour over one another, allowing each layer to dry before adding the next.

Painting Wildlife

Choosing Your Subject

When choosing a wildlife subject, consider its colours, patterns, and textures. Animals with bold colours and distinctive markings make great subjects for watercolour brush pens.

Observing Your Subject

Take some time to observe your subject, noting its physical characteristics, movement, and behaviour. This will help you create a more realistic and lifelike painting.

Painting Eyes

The eyes are a key feature in animal paintings. Use a fine-tipped brush or a sharpened pencil to create the pupils and irises, adding highlights to bring the eyes to life.

Painting Fur or Feathers

To paint fur or feathers, use a variety of brushstrokes to create texture. Use a dry brush for a more subtle effect, or a wet brush for a bolder, more expressive look.

Adding Details

Once the basic structure of your animal is complete, you can add details such as whiskers, claws, and fur patterns using a fine-tipped brush.

With practice and patience, you can master the art of painting wildlife using watercolour brush pens. Experiment with different techniques and colours to create unique and vibrant masterpieces that capture the beauty and essence of the animal kingdom.

Remember, the best way to improve your skills is to practice regularly and observe the world around you. The more you paint, the more confident and skilled you will become.

We hope this tutorial has inspired you to create your own stunning wildlife paintings using watercolour brush pens. Share your creations with us on social media and continue to explore the wonderful world of watercolour art!
